Work

When world war two started back in 1939 my grandmothers grandma was a little girl about nine or ten. The Nazis sent her to Germany to work on land .She had to work hours a day and help the people grow food on land during war time , working nearly took over her life and by the end of the day she was bearily standing and they wanted her to do more . There was bearily any time for sleep or even a nap.

Food

My grandmother told me that her grandma, children and her husband had nothing really to eat ,it was mostly potatoes and sometimes they even had to eat the potatoes peel if they were hungry witch they peeled of before eating them ,they mostly ate that during the war.

Evacuation

As I already mentioned my grandmother told me that her grandma went to evacuate to Germany to work. My grandmother also mentioned that her father was born in Poland but the rest of his siblings were born in Germany due to having to work there.

Going to war

My grandmother told me that her father's brother went out to war and when the war was finally over he didn't come home so they waited for him but then they thought of an idea it was to ask the red cross to look for him but unfortunately, he still didn't come home. If you didn't know what the red cross was it was a charity that helped, cared and looked after the soldiers during world war two and world war one.

The polish Red Cross

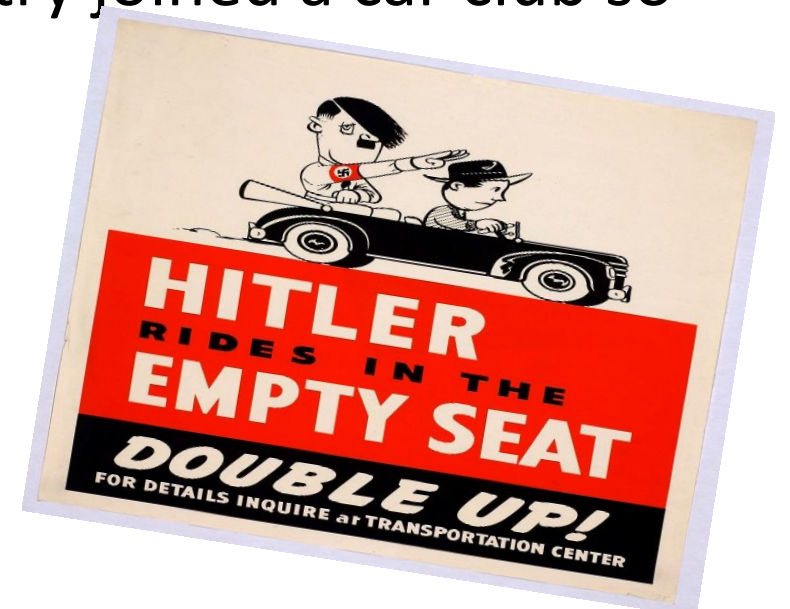

The Polish Red Cross and the other Red Crosses didn't just help the soldiers in the war but they also helped the people and Jews who were in prison and concentration camps but they didn't do very much because the German security soldiers and Hitler didn't let them. After a while in 1944 the Germans let The Red Cross Help the people in the prison and concentration camps.

Britain during World War two

Posters

During World War two there were lots of posters on the street lights , building walls and many more places. There were posters everywhere but there were two in particular one was about joining the army so Britain could win and the other poster was if you were driving alone in your car you would be wasting petrol and Hitler would be driving in the seat next to you so then men all over the country joined a car club so they wouldn't be wasting any petrol.
